Dr. S. O. Richardson's
CELEBRATED SHERRY WINE
BITTERS.

THE Proprietor of this Medicine offers to the Public the result of an extensive practice and a thorough investigation of the laws which govern the human system.

It cannot be denied by those who have become acquainted with the singular virtues of these Bitters that they possess a pre eminence over all others now in use for the diseases which they profess to cure.

It is a well known fact, that most diseases arise from a derangement of the stomach and Bowels, in youthful, adult and declining life.

——"The stomach crammed with every dish,
A tomb of roast and boil'd and flesh and fish,
Where bile and wind and phlegm and acid jar,
And all the man is one intestine war."

The extensive sympathies which subsist between these and every other part of the living body is the foundation of nervous disorders of all kinds—Irregular Appetite, Languor, Drowsiness, Wandering Pains, Headache, Lowness of Spirits, &c.

And these, in their turn give birth to Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Shortness of Breath, Jaundice, Biles, Fevers, Inflammatory Humors, Coughs and a host of diseases which embitter life and poison all sources of enjoyment.

The distinguished character of these Bitters is most striking, their operation being more or less powerful according to the violence of the disease. When used in appropriate quantity, in cases of slight derangement of the Stomach and Bowels caused by costiveness or a slight bilious difficulty and the like where nature needs assistance to prevent more serious consequences they will be scarcely felt.

On the contrary, in obstinate cases, they frequently operate more powerfully, causing two or three evacuations daily, until the circulating fluid becomes purified. This accomplished, they not only cleanse the system in connection with our food each receiving mutual assistance until the constitution is restored to a state of health and renewed vigor.

Notice to Mill Owners.

THE undersigned having purchased one half of the right of making, vending and using VALENTINE'S PATENT CAST IRON WATER WHEELS, for the United States have at a great expense fitted up patterns for casting twenty one different sizes of these Wheels, which are particularly adapted to the various heads of water for which they may be wanted.

Upwards of two hundred of these Wheels have been put in operation in this State within the past year giving perfect satisfaction to the purchasers.

A model of these Wheels was tested at Lowell Mass the past summer by a Board of Engineers composed of Ithamar A Beard and James B Francis Esqs of Lowell and L A Straw Esq of Manchester and it was afterwards placed in the hall of the Mechanics Fair at their last exhibition in Boston and received the only diploma awarded on water wheels.

We annex an extract from the certificate of L A Straw Esq one of the board of engineers giving an account of the experiments made with the model at Lowell which establish the great superiority of the Valentine Wheel over any of the kind in use.

"MANCHESTER July 11 1844

"Dear Sir—I send you the results of several experiments made at Lowell the other day with your Model of Valentine's Patent Reacting Wheel. I consider the trial to have been a very fair one and the results are certainly very creditable to your wheel. I think they prove conclusively that your wheel is at least 50 per cent stronger than any of the Tub or Reacting Wheels now in general use.

The coefficient of effect, or percentage of power derived from well constructed breast or Overshot Wheels acting under favorable circumstances is usually reckoned at 66 per cent or 2 thirds of the ... Tub and Reacting Wheel at 30 per cent, but in many cases out of ten in practice I think it will be found that the power derived from Breast Wheels will not exceed 60 per cent of the power applied, or the power derived from Tub Central or Reacting Wheels 25 per cent of the power applied. Indeed I know of well constructed Tub Wheels acting apparently under favorable circumstances that do not give a coefficient of effect equal to 20 per cent.

With the results of your wheel before us it needs no arguments to show how vastly superior it is to such Wheels as I have mentioned. The least result obtained from your wheel gives us about 42 per cent of the power applied which is nearly double of the power that could be derived from the common wheels before mentioned acting under the same circumstances.

I have added nothing to the coefficient of effect for the friction of the wheel and apparatus which according to our measure ... was ... lbs or 10th ... If this were added ... as perhaps it should be to get at the actual effect of your wheel it would give as the result of the trials a coefficient of effect of 50 per cent which I have no hesitation in saying is a result that may be obtained from any wheel similar to the model well constructed and acting under favorable circumstances.

Experiments Nos 1, 2 and 3 were made without back water. Ex No 1 400 lbs lifted 9½ feet—fall 5 03 feet—effect 42 8 10 per cent. 2 400 lbs lifted 9½ feet—fall 5 03 ft—effect 41 3 10 per cent. 3 400 lbs lifted 9 12 ft—fall 5 7 feet—effect 42 5 10 per cent.

The mean of experiments Nos 1, 2 and 3 would be 42 4 10 per cent without the friction, in all an average of about 4. per cent which may be considered as the effect of your wheel when working free from back water.

In experiments Nos 4, 5 and 6 the wheel was immersed in back water, but was very evidently overloaded.

In experiments Nos 7, 8 and 9 wheel was immersed in back water.

Ex No ... 36 lbs lifted 9 1 ... feet ... fall 4 00 ft—effect 47 3 10 per cent. 8 ... lbs lifted ... ft—fall ... ft—effect 55 3 10 per cent. ... lbs lifted 9½ feet—fall 4 01 feet—effect 48 1 10 per cent.

The mean of experiments 7, 8 and 9 would be 48 6 10 per cent besides the friction, in all an average of about 53 per cent which may be considered as the effect of your wheel when working just immersed in back water.

THE GREAT NORTHERN REMEDY.

N. F. DOWNS' VEGETABLE BALSAMIC ELIXIR,

FOR Colds, Coughs, Consumption, Spitting of Blood, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis and all diseases of the Lungs

This medicine is purely vegetable—the result not of mere theory and speculation, but of much study and research during years of debility and suffering, and the inventor having succeeded in curing himself, and having tested its efficacy on thousands of individuals in New England and the western States feels great confidence in recommending it to the public as a safe and efficient remedy It operates most ingeniously in removing all morbid irritation from the Lungs and Pulmonary Organs, keeps the cough loose promotes expectoration, and induces a degree of quiet in the system peculiarly grateful to the patient after having experienced so many days and nights of restless inquietude and suffering Hear the testimony of those who have been benefitted by it Hon Bates Turner late Judge of the Supreme Court of Vermont says, "I have been acquainted with the medicine called Downs Elixir, for seven years past and from its effect upon myself and in cases where I have witnessed its effect upon others I consider it one of the most fortunate inventions ever made" Robert W Woodruff, Esq of Summerville N J. after certifying to its good effects upon himself in a case of long standing internal weakness and coughs, concluded thus — This certificate is given with the hope that it may direct the attention of all suffering from colds coughs inward weakness, &c to this invaluable medicine"

Dr Gustavus Hill, of Ashtabula Ohio says, "I was induced to try the Balsamic Elixir, and having used one bottle with decided advantage, I followed it with another which I hesitate not to say have had a more pleasing and permanent effect than all other cough medicines I ever used" William C Perkins of Summersworth, Great Falls N H says "I have used N H Downs' Vegetable Balsamic Elixir for phthisic and found immediate relief and do consider it the best medicine ever used by me for that complaint" J Baily, Esq of Canton N Y concludes his certificate thus "I have no hesitation in saying to the public that the said Balsamic Elixir was the only means of my recovery and I do most cheerfully and earnestly recommend it to the public" Charles Nelson of Waterford Me in a letter to the general agents dated March 10 1845, says "The agent of Downs Elixir was here last month and left one and a half dozen bottles with me not knowing its value did not take much have sold all he left and finding it one of the most valuable medicines I ever had in my store I sell want you to send on another lot immediately by stage"

INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION.

THE above figure is given to represent the INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION It is the great EVACUATION for the impurities of the body It will be noticed that a thick cloudy mist issues from all points of the surface which indicates the wonderful process going forward within This perspiration flows uninterruptedly when we are in health, but ceases when we are sick It should be the care of every one to see that it is not checked Life cannot be sustained without it. It is thrown off from the blood and other juices of the body and disposes by this means of nearly all the impurities within us The blood by this means only works its it pure The language of Scripture, is "in the BLOOD is life" It it ever becomes impure, it may be traced directly to the stoppage of the INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION It never requires any internal medicines to cleanse it, as it ALWAYS purifies itself by its own heat and action, and throws off all the offending humor, through the INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION Thus we see, all that is necessary when the blood is stagnant, or infected, is to open the pores, and it relieves itself from all impurity instantly. Its own heat and vitality are sufficient without one particle of medicine, except to open the pores upon the surface Thus we see the folly of taking so much internal remedies. All practitioners, however direct their efforts to restore the Insensible Perspiration, but it seems to be not always the proper one.— The Thomsonian, for instance steams, the Hydropathist, shrouds us in wet blankets, the Homœopathist deals out infinitessimals the Allopathist bleeds and doses us with mercury and the blustering Quack gorges us with pills, pills, pills

But one object only is in view, viz—to Restore the Insensible Perspiration. If this can be done, they say, we will take care of the rest It will be seen, therefore, that all physicians understand alike what is necessary to a recovery, however much they may differ as to the mode of obtaining it

To give some idea of the amount and consequently the importance of the INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION we will state that the learned Dr Lewenhock and the great Boerhaave ascertained that five-eighths of all we receive into the stomach, passed off by this means In other words, if we eat and drink eight pounds per day we evacuate five pounds of it by the Insensible Perspiration

This is none other than the used up particles of the blood and other juices giving place to the new and fresh ones by carrying with it all the impurities within, up to the surface To check this, therefore, is to retain in the system five-eighths of all the virulent matter that nature demands should leave the body And even when this is the case the blood is so active a principle, that it determines these particles to the skin where they form scabs, pimples ulcers and other spots but if it is directed inwards and falls upon the lungs the consequences are generally fatal

By a sudden transition from heat to cold, the pores are stopped the perspiration ceases and disease begins at once to develop itself Hence a stoppage of this flow of the juices originates so many complaints It is through the surface that we find nearly all our ills

If is by stopping the pores that overwhelms mankind with coughs colds and consumption Nine tenths of the world die from diseases induced by a stoppage of the INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION

It is easily seen therefore how NECESSARY is the flow of this subtle humor to the surface to preserve health It cannot be stopped it cannot be even checked, without inducing disease The blood and juices require it to relieve themselves of all their worn out particles and poisonous humors and they must go through the pores as nature designed

Let me ask now every candid mind what course seems the most reasonable to pursue to unstop the pores after they are closed and let the perspiration flow, that the blood may relieve itself of its impurities? Would you give physic to UNSTOP the pores? Or would you apply something that would do this upon the surface where the clogging actually is Would not this be common sense And yet I know of no physician who makes any external application to effect it The reason I give is that no medicine within their knowledge is capable of it Under these circumstances I present to physicians, and to all others a preparation that has this power to the fullest extent It is McAllister's All Healing Ointment or the World's Salve. It has POWER to restore perspiration [illegible] feet on the head on old sores [illegible] the chest in short upon any part of the body whether diseased slightly or severely When the perspiration is restored it has POWER to penetrate the lungs liver or any other part [illegible] [illegible] by separating the inflamed and morbid particles therefrom and expelling them to the surface

It has POWER to cause all external sores scrofulous humors skin diseases poisonous wounds to discharge their putrid matter and then heals them

It is a REMEDY that sweeps off the whole catalogue of cutaneous disorders and restores the entire cuticle to its healthy functions

It is a REMEDY that forbids the necessity of so many and deleterious drugs taken into the stomach

It is a REMEDY that neither sickens gives inconvenience or is dangerous to the intestines

This REMEDY is probably the only one known that is capable of curing all these great evils Its great value is in reaching at once the circulation of the juices when checked or disarranged by cold or other causes It preserves and defends the surface from all derangement of its functions while it keeps open the channel for the blood to void all its impurities and dispose of all its useless particles— There is a connection harmony and feasibility in it all There is no deficiency. It is a simple but wonderful principle that preserves in health the entire machinery of our being— It indissolubly holds together the surface and internal Viscera, the internal Viscera and the surface They are inseparably connected and cannot be disjointed The surface is THE outlet of five eighths of the bile and used up matter within It is pierced with MILLIONS of openings to RELIEVE the intestines Stop up these pores and DEATH knocks at your door It is rightly termed All Healing for there is scarcely a disease external or internal that it will not benefit It will be found the most useful as well as the cheapest family medicine in the world I have used it for the last five years with success without a parallel I have used it for all diseases of the chest consumption, liver and the most dangerous of internal maladies I have used it in cases of extreme peril and hazard involving the utmost danger and responsibility and I declare before heaven and man that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means

I never in my recollection had more than five or six among the thousands who have used it say that it was not favorable to their complaints On the contrary I have had hundreds voluntarily add to the warmest and most pointed language speak in its praise I have had physicians learned in the profession I have had ministers of the gospel Judges on the Bench Aldermen and Lawyers gentlemen of the highest erudition and MULTITUDES of the POOR use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice one united universal voice saying "McAlister, your Ointment is GOOD

CONSUMPTION

Of all diseases we find this the most important and perplexing which we meet with the most opposition It can hardly be credited that a salve can have any effect upon the lungs, seated as they are within the system But we say once for all that this Ointment will reach the lungs quicker than any medicine that can be given internally Every body consents to the fact that if a healing medicine could be applied ON the lungs there would be great hopes of recovery The difficulty is to get the medicine here. Now the Salve has the wonderful virtue of extracting the putrid diseased humors from all external sores, by causing them to discharge In like manner it operates upon internal affections by driving all the impurities through the pores to the surface. Thus with Consumption, placed upon the chest it penetrates to the lungs, separates the poisonous particles that are consuming them and expels them from the system

It is the simplest and most rational process of creation if one has the medicine capable of doing it. The All-Healing Ointment possesses this power to its fullest extent I need not say that it is curing persons of consumption continually, although we are told it is foolishness I care not what is said, so long as I can cure several thousand persons yearly If this medicine was in the hands of some patent medicine brawlers they would make an uproar through the country that would be insupportable

SCROFULA, OR KING'S EVIL

This disease is really inveterate, and hard to be subdued It is generally seated in the side of the neck, behind the ears, and under the chin, yet scarcely any part of the body is exempt It sometimes falls on the lungs, and produces consumption It is a dreadful circumstance, that this disease is transmitted from parents to children

The Salve will extract all the morbid matter, by causing the sores to discharge, and then let the Solar Tincture be used to drive it to one point, which done, a continuance of the Ointment will completely remove the disorder.— This is probably the safest and most effectual of any method It should be adopted without a moments hesitation

ERYSIPELAS

This complaint arises from impurities being driven out to the surface by means of the INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION, and lodging in the cuticle forms sores, pimples, &c caustic, acrid putrifying nature requires that it should discharge the particles through the skin and it will pass off If suffered to remain it inwards it is frequently fatal

STOP THIEF. $20 REWARD.

ON Friday the 29th of August the subscribers let a horse and wagon to one JOHN FAVOR, a hand in one of the mills here to go to Bangor, under a promise that he would return them on Sunday the 31st. Ten days have elapsed and no thing has been heard of Favor or the Horse and carriage and it is feared that he has decamped with said horse and carriage via Houlton for New Brunswick and from whence he formerly came

The horse was a gelding 10 years old and of a chesnut color—was breachy—and had the hair for some inches chafed off his neck by a yoke with which he had been hampered

The wagon was of the common style nearly new having on thorough braces painted a deep dark yellow, with black stripes. The harness was a common one, with potted mountings and brass D's in the saddle

Favor is a man of common stature dark complexion, with wide teeth easy and plausible manners and from 23 to 25 years of age. He is undoubtedly a rogue and ran off with the establishment. Whoever will return said horse, wagon and harness shall receive the above reward and a reasonable proportion for either with ten dollars more for the thief. HENRY B JORDAN & CO. Public Schools.

A reform is needed in the public schools of Maine With the exception of a few places, they are at a disgracefully low ebb The public sentiment regarding the education of the rising generation is still lower It is necessary that some efficient system be adopted by the friends of education to awaken the public attention to this matter The pursuit of the "Almighty dollar" is thrusting itself forward in the way of the education of the children of the State They are in many parts of the State now gropeing their way in thick darkness, instead of enjoying the advantages of the light of the present day There is in most of the towns of Maine not only no worthy system in the public schools but a prevailing listlessness if not a public sentiment on the part of the people against there being any system or the trouble of any oversight over schools

We conversed recently with a friend upon this and kindred subjects, and he informed us that in some towns in Maine, the people in public town meetings have voted instructions to the Superintending School Committee not to visit the schools, under the requirements of the law, for the purposes of examination, and only for the purpose of quelling a disturbance!

This fact may be relied upon, and it speaks volumes as to the low state of the public mind regarding the great interest of our public schools The duty of the committee, those publicly instituted guardians of the education of the people, only required to exercise the high functions of their office to quell disturbances, to put down insurrection in a school! Where is that great conservative principle of prevention, that it is not applied to the schools and by their being kept in good order to save all necessity for quelling insurrection by making insurrection a thing unthought of? If the right education of the children were attended to, there would be no occasion for insurrections nor would the expense of doing the right thing in the right time, probably cost as much, as quelling disturbances originating in neglect.

We feel that all good citizens, all friends of education and good order,—that the pulpit and the press have more work to do in this matter than we had supposed. There is a great responsibility resting upon the men of our day to make the path of the rising generation smooth and light.

It has been suggested that the teachers in the State, those who are teachers, in connection with the ardent friends of education hold a convention sometime during the present autumn, to consult together upon the measure of improving the common schools of Maine, and awakening attention to the subject of education We feel desirous that this should be done and that the real condition of the schools should be known, and the necessity of efficient action be fully appreciated by the whole people, and the necessary efforts induced to remedy the evils

Will not the press in Maine engage in this noble enterprize for the good of humanity and the honor and welfare of our State? Will not some friend of education in each town in the State make up a statement of facts regarding the condition of the schools in his town and forward it to the convention?

This work must be attended to or the State is doomed to occupy, before many years, a degraded and a degrading position regarding education Let all act now, and with promptness, and something may be done worthy the State and people.

Row among the Lawyers

A fracas took place in the Circuit Court room at Hudson, N Y, on the 5th, between A L Jordan, and John Van Buren, Esqrs, State Attorney, while conducting a case Some strong language ensued between the parties, when Mr Jordan called Mr Van Buren "a liar," upon which the latter struck the former in the face with his elbow, Several blows followed, and the affair was put an end to by Judge Edmonds committing both parties for contempt of court, for twenty four hours The parties wished to be released on payment of a fine, but the court refused the application

☞ J T Lavery, Esq will deliver a Temperance Lecture on Thursday evening next, at the City Hall, before the Catholic Temperance Association The public are invited to attend

Vermont Election.

There has been no choice of Governor by the people, but the Whigs will have a decided majority in both branches of the Legislature

☞ At Chicago, on the 23d, there was a regular pitched battle between some southerners in pursuit of persons alleged to be slaves, and certain abolitionists One of the southerners was wounded in the head, the blacks escaped

☞ The fall term of our public schools commenced yesterday with the exception of the High Schools The term in those Schools will commence on Monday next, the delay being occasioned by the repairs and alterations going on their rooms

☞ We learn that no representatives were elected in Portland It is stated that Carter the Whig County Attorney is probably elected in Cumberland county, and that probably one Whig Senator and one Loco Senator are elected there

☞ We have been favored to day with Boston papers in advance of the Mail furnished by Mr Spear Clerk of the Charter Oak and by Gilman's Express.

☞ Jack Frost laid his nipping fingers upon the vines and all tender vegetation, last night with much force

☞ The Mayor and Aldermen have appointed a week from next Monday for the second trial to elect Representatives

Mr Luther Faulkner, of Boston, dropped dead in an apoplectic fit on Sunday

☞ Gen Gaines, it is said, will be Court Martialed for his late proceedings

Drying Potatos.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

I assume it to be a fact that the potato is not diseased. The tops of the potato have been killed, extensively, the two past seasons, and as a very natural consequence the unripe, half grown tubers have rotted The cause of the rot is fermentation Prevent fermentation and the frightful "Potato plague" is cured This must be done by drying Any farmer who has a rotting field of potatos, may save them, by digging and spreading them so thin as to dry the surface, and keep them dry until cold weather, and he can then safely stow them away in the cellar Drying any substance, as every one should know, will prevent fermentation Fermentation in vegetable matter produces decomposition, and decomposition is rot

It is common to hear persons who should know better, talk of rust as 'disease,'—as the cause of the death of wheat, oats, &c Rust is rot, and cannot, therefore, precede, but must follow the death of the plant on which it is found Rust upon wheat is caused in this manner at a period when the plant is growing most rapidly, the weather excessively warm, and commonly wet, and when every sap vessel is filled to its utmost tension, the plant is suddenly killed (but in what way has not been discovered), and the sap ceasing to flow, ferments and bursts the external skin, or bone, exposing to view the rottenness within, caused by fermentation and decomposition, and this is called rust

When grain is killed and rust ensues, every farmer knows what to do—he cuts immediately, dries and houses his crop The potato top does not die, but is killed, by the same cause that kills grain, The effect of the same cause differs because the plants differ The grain berry receives its nutriment through a single stalk, drawn chiefly from the ground through the roots, while the potato vine branches extensively, and these branches have a large number of leaves, and it is through the agency of these leaves that the tuber draws a large share of its nutriment Now, it so happens that only a part of the leaves on the potato stalk are killed at first, and the growing tuber continues to live by sustenance drawn from the remaining leaves and stalks, whereas the berry of grain dries immediately after rust appears, and we call it "pinched"—shrunk up to nearly half its ordinary dimensions. Potatoes are not so easily "pinched," but keep them dry and they will not rot A Glenburn Farmer

Generous Creditors.

Among the merchandise destroyed on board the steamship Bangor, of dry goods belonging to Mr G N Roberts, of Bangor, which had just been purchased on credit in Boston, amounting in value to about $1000 On receiving information of the loss, Mr Roberts repaired immediately to Boston, and made the fact known to the merchants of whom the goods had been purchased, who generously offered to bear one half the loss —Exchange paper.

The Thirteenth Chime—A Legend of Old London.

BY ANGUS B REACH.

It was one of the earliest years of the reign of Henry the Eighth, and on a glorious summer's day, that two men sat in earnest conversation together in the oak pannelled parlor of a small house abutting upon St Paul's Churchyard — The one was a soldier, the other a priest The former was habited as an officer of the yeoman of the guard—his morion surmounted by a plume of feathers lay before him on the table, and his rich scarlet and gold uniform shown gay and glistening in the sunshine He was a young man but vice and unbridled passion was stamped, like Cain's mark, upon his face His eyes were bloodshot, his mouth coarse and sensual, and his whole bearing fierce and swaggering — His priestly companion had thrown back his cowl, probably for coolness, and disclosed features, the expression of which, like that of the captain of the guards, was evil, but which, unlike his, was partially redeemed by an appearance of lofty intellectuality The priest's forehead was high and massive, and his eye deep set and bright As he glanced at his companion, his thin pale lip curled involuntarily, and the scorn of his smile was withering But the soldier perceived it not, as he carelessly set aside the silver stoup from which he had been imbibing plentiful draughts of sack, and remarked—

'And so, Bully Friar thou hast absolved all my sins—truly their name was legion—but that boots not now, they are rubbed away like rust from a sword blade

Doubtless thou art pardoned Have I not said it?' returned the priest And as he spoke his lip curled more palpably than ever

'That swaggerer, pinned by the cross bow bolt at Thames' said he of the yeomen of the guard beginning anew the muster roll of his transgressions —

'Think not of it, replied the priest

'And the murther done at the Bankside?'

'Forgiven

'And the despoiling of the Abingdon mercer?'

'I have absolved

'And the vow broken to Sir Hildebrand Grey?

'It will not count against thee

'And the carrying off the pretty Mistress Marjory?' —

'Hath been atoned for

'And oaths, lies, imprecations, innumerable?' rejoined the captain 'Not so much that I care about such petty matters, but when one is at confession, one may as well make a clean breast of it

In the name of the Church I absolve thee — And now, Captain Wyckhamme, thou must perform a service for me

'It is but reasonable Thou art my helper in matters spiritual—I am thine in matters earthly We serve each other Father Francis

The worthy Francis smiled It is possible that he deemed the arrangement a better one for himself than for his thirsty friend

'Therefore say the word' continued Wyckhamme 'and let my bountiful forgiver of transgressions, I am thine, for good or evil

Father Francis bent his keen black eye steadily upon his companion — gazing as if he would peer into his soul At length he spoke slowly and calmly—

'Thou hast a yeoman in thy company of guards—one Mark Huntley

'Marry, yes A fine, stalwart fellow he draws a bow like Robin Hood and I would ill like to abide the brunt of his partisan What of him?

The priest started up—his eye flashed—his nostrils dilated Catching Wyckhamme's arm with his brown sinewy hand, and clutching it convulsively he said hoarsely—Ruin him

'Ruin him' repeated the officer of the guards somewhat surprised at this unexpected outburst Ruin him! Marry man, bethink ye he is the flower of my company

'I say, ruin him, cried the priest 'Thou art his officer and there are a thousand ways Plot —plot— so that he may rot in a dungeon, or swing from the gallows He is a canker in my heart

But wherefore art thou set against the yeoman, Father?' asked Captain Wyckhamme

He has crossed my path, said the priest moodily

Crossed thy path—how demanded the soldier

Father Francis looked wistfully at his questioner, and muttered, In love

Captain Wyckhamme struck the table with his fist, until the wine flasks danced again and then starting to his feet, with a coarse roar of laughter, exclaimed— Ho, ho! hath it come to this? And so a neat ankle, and buxom cheeks and a gimp waist were more than a match for thy sanctity And thy cell was solitary and cold —was it not Priest? And a man even though a monk, cannot always be praying and so thou wouldst take to wooing for an interlude Brave Sir Priest —Credit me, thou art a man of Mettle —a bold friar—an honest of thine order Nay thou shalt be the founder of an order—of a family, I mean and by my halidome there will be a rare spice of the devil in the breed But I say Father who is she?—what is she? Do her eyes sparkle? her cheeks glow—her———

'Silence, babbler said the priest, her name is too pure a thing for thee to take within thy lips for thee to speak of her—mere blasphemy

'Ha' exclaimed Wyckhamme, 'Priest, I say unto thee beware

'Hush I love her, love her with a depth of passion which things like thee cannot comprehend I have wrestled—fought with it—striven in the darkness and silence of my cell to crush it but I cannot, she is my light my air, my life, my God I have said it—she shall be mine, though I give body and soul to purchase the treasure!

The Captain looked surprised at this outbreak 'Wilt thou remove this man?' continued the priest after a pause, and speaking in a voice of frightful calmness

'Hum, why marry, I would do as much to oblige thee,' began the soldier, when his companion interrupted him

'We are in each other's secrets, he said

The officer of the guard shrugged his shoulders

'And with men like us to be in each other's secrets is to be in each other's power.'

The officer of the guard shrugged his shoulders still higher

'Art thou resolved?' inquired Father Francis, quietly

'I am, was the reply, 'Mark Huntley will not live long to thwart thee'

'Tis well,' muttered the priest, 'but the blow must be immediate

'It shall to morrow,' said Wyckhamme, 'leave the means to me But I say, Father, how dost thou propose to get possession of the maiden, and when?

'To night,' replied the monk, and his eye glistened, 'I am her father confessor

Captain Wyckhamme smacked his lips 'A sweet duty, by my faith, to listen to the fluttering thoughts of youthful female hearts, I almost would I were a monk

'Curses on thy licentious tongue!' exclaimed the churchman in a voice of suppressed passion

'Listen—I have imposed upon her a midnight solitary penance At the dead hour of the night she is to kneel before the shrine of the Virgin in the cathedral I shall be there'

'And attempt to carry her off?—she will scream

'There are gags.'

'She will fly

'There are bonds, and secret-keeping places the world wots not of, at my disposal—while Mark Huntley——'

'Is my part of the job. Priest, it is a well laid scheme—I think it may prosper

'It must, answered the priest, but the sun hath passed the meridian is it not time thou wert on thy way homeward?'

'Marry you say true,' exclaimed the other 'and I will plot my share in the matter as I ride

'Do so,' said the priest, and farewell'

In five minutes Captain Wyckhamme, attended by two yeomen of his troop, was spurring down Ludgate Hill, on his way westward, while Father Francis, enveloped in his cowl, paced slowly and thoughtfully back to the cathedral The people made way for him reverently and bowed low, the father had the reputation of being rich in the order of sanctity, and many counted themselves happy in his 'Benedicite'

The hours passed away and it became night—a fair, calm, summer's night, in which the moon and stars seemed striving to outshine each other A deep hush was upon London, The last of the crew of prentices, who had been whileing away the lengthy twilight by a noisy game of football in Cheape, had been summoned within doors by its vigilant master, and the streets were left to the occasional home returning traveller, who either passed along with tipsy gravity, or made the old houses ring with snatches of the drinking songs which still buzzed in his ears The stately mass of old Paul's rose majestically above all humble tenements, steeped in a flood of moonshine—its quaint carvings and sculptural pinnacles here standing out clear and palpable in the starry air, and there broken by broad masses of deep black shadow

It was near the hour of midnight when the light figure of a women closely muffled in its draperies, glided cautiously and timidly along the quiet pavement, and tripped up the steps towards one of the side entrances of the cathedral The door of a chapelry from which admittance might be had into the main portion of the building, was open As she crossed the threshold the damp chill air, so different from the genial atmosphere without, made her pause. It was but for a moment, and then she entered the cathedral It was an awfully solemn place No work of men's hands could be more grand, its shadowy vastness seemed out of the earth — The eye could only dimly trace its proportions by the gorgeously colored light admitted by the painted glass, and imagination supplied the rest Here were the vast clustered pillars, the echoing aisles the groined and arched magnificence of the roof, and over all a silence like the silence of the dead, the intruder crossed her arms up in her bosom for the place was chill—and the next moment Mabel Lorne knelt before the shrine of the Virgin She had hardly passed a minute in devotion when a heavy hand was laid upon her shoulder, with a fluttering heart she started to her feet, and beheld the face of Father Francis, close to hers

"Father!" she exclaimed

"Daughter, returned the priest, in a voice trembling with passionate eagerness, for he thought he had his victim in his clutch, thou must go with me and at the same instant, before she could make a motion to prevent him, he slipped a kerchief prepared for the purpose over the lower part of her face, and she was unable to utter a sound,

'Come sweet one come said Father Francis in a low, tremulous voice as he attempted to seize her arm and waist Surprise and despair, however gave Mabel strength—making a frantic effort, she freed herself from the rude grasp, and fled Uttering an uttered imprecation, the priest pursued but his flowing robes hindered his progress With a reeling head and almost insensible of what she did, Mabel flew over the pavement, she tried to make for the door, but her confusion was too great to enable her to discover it—she heard the footsteps of the priest close to her and fled unwitting whither she went

Ha! now I have thee panted the monk as the fugitive appeared driven into a corner of the building, and he made a plunge forward to grasp her He was disappointed A low browed door stood open in the wall leading to a spiral stone staircase, and up it she flew like the wind As Mabel put her foot upon the first step, a loud clang rang through the cathedral—it was the first chime of twelve struck by the great clock Up—up—up—went pursuer and pursued Fear gave unnatural swiftness to Mabel, and see rushed upwards, round and round the spiral staircase, as though her feet felt not the stone steps The priest was close behind, with clenched teeth and glaring eyes maddened by passion and disappointment, he made desperate efforts to overtake his victim and sometimes Mabel heard his loud pantings close behind her Up they went, higher and higher the gyrations of the stairs seemed endless And all the while the clock rang slowly out the iron chimes of midnight The place was dark, but there was nothing to impede progress, and here and there bars of white moon light, shining through loopholes rendered the gloom Up up higher and faster but Mabel felt that her limbs were failing her—she made one more effort—one frantic bound, and lo! she saw above her, in a space on which the moon beams fell the complicated works of the great clock She had no breath to raise an alarm which could be heard by those below She listened to the rapidly mounting footsteps of the priest and her heart sank within her Just then the great iron hammer which struck the hours rang the last stroke of twelve upon the bell A thought darted like lightning through Mabel's brain—she might make that iron tongue speak for her

Descent in a Diving Bell.

The Bunker Hill Aurora of Tuesday states that Captain Taylor afforded a highly interesting exhibition on board the Spitfire while laying near the Navy Yard in the forenoon A number of gentlemen had been invited on board and about fifty were present including Commodore Nicholson, Collector Morton, Mr Farmer the Captain Sturgis' Honorable B F Thompson, and others One of Captain Taylor's men first went down the submarine armor and explored the bottom for sometime being fully supplied with air from the air pumps After he was drawn up Captain Taylor taking a friend with him, descending in one of his new copper diving Bells, which he has just been making for the government They descended to the depth of about forty five feet, and remained on the bottom about half an hour While there they sent up a message, written on a piece of board, for a bottle of Porter, which came down with a cork screw and tumbler and each gentleman took a drink At one time there was about a foot of water in the bell while Captain Taylor permitted the air to escape at the top of the bell so as to keep it fresh, then by turning the stop cock, the air was condensed and the water expelled to within an inch of the rim of the bell The experiment was completely successful and highly satisfactory A strong tide was running, but the bell was so constructed that it was slightly affected by it The bottom was thoroughly explored for a circumference of twenty feet around the spot where the bell descended Various kinds of fish were seen, and could have been easily taken with a spear The atmosphere inside the bell was warm, but the heat was not oppressive or disagreeable In descending, the pressure of the air affected the tympanums of the ears rather painfully at first, but this was obviated as soon as the system became adjusted to the pressure While at the bottom the sensations were pleasant and rather exhilarating The bell appears to us to be a most perfect apparatus and to possess many advantages over all others which have heretofore been used

A southern dandy having been practising before the glass and dressing himself a little more exquisitely than common for a special occasion, called in his negro Jack, when the following dialogue ensued—

Master—Jack, how do I look this evening?

Jack—Oh, Masse, you do look splendid, neber see you look so grand all my life

Master—Now, Jack, upon honor, do you think I look fair?

Jack—Why, Masse, you do look bold as a lion

Master—Jack, what do you know about a lion you never saw a lion?

Jack—Oh yes, Masse, I see lion many e-time, Masse Torrey a ... im he ride one ob here ebery day when he go ober to mill

Master—Pshaw, Jack, you fool, that is no lion—that is a donkey

Jack—Can't help that, Masse—cause you do look berry exactly like him

"I cannot go where universal love smiles not around"—THOMPSON

What studded the blue arch of heaven with glittering lights? What formed the unknown depths of the ocean, and stored them with innumerable creeping things? What created the fair world of brightness and beauty? What clothes our fields with green, and our valleys with corn? What blows

"Thro' all life, extends thro' all extent,
Spreads undivided, operates unspent?"

The love of God—deep, unfathomable, limitless love

It is this which speaks in the wild warbling of the feathered choir—we hear it in the pearly rivulet and the gushing stream—we see it in the bright flowers of spring, in the sparkling tints of the rose and the beautiful fragrance of the flower of the valley

We hear it in the howling of the midnight storm, and in the summer breathings of the gentle zephyr We see it in the bright beams of the king of day, and in the milder glory of the queen of night

Thou art, O God the life and light,
Of all this wondrous world we see,
Its glow by day its smile by night
Are but reflections caught from thee
Where'er we turn thy glories shine,
And all things fair and bright are thine

March of Mind in Virginia.

The Post master General not long since abolished one of the small offices in Virginia, and wrote a rough draft of a letter, informing the country postmaster that in consequence of his proximity to the other office, he had concluded to discontinue his office Very soon an answer was received, in which the postmaster complained bitterly of the discontinuance of his office—not for the sake of the salary for that was not more than sixty two and one half cents per quarter—but on account of the cause of the discontinuance, proximity, "for" said he, "I was never guilty of proximity in my life
